A Palm Sunday Meditation: TAKE UP MY CROSS?

By Rev. James Martin, S.J.

Palm Sunday raises at least two important spiritual questions for Christians: What does it mean to be like Jesus? And what does it mean to take up our crosses, like He did?

First, you don't need to go looking for your cross. Life gives them to you. Whether it's an illness or a tough family relationship or trouble in school or problems on the job. The real cross is the one that you don't want.

Because it's hardly a cross if you want it.

Just like it was for Jesus.

Second, we are asked by Jesus to accept our crosses.

Now, what does that mean? Well, first it means accepting that suffering is a reality in your life, and being honest about it. Perhaps more importantly, it means not passing along the bitterness that you feel. That doesn't mean that when you're with friends or family or counselors, you can't talk about it or complain about it or even cry about it. That's both healthy and natural.

But it does mean that if you're angry about your boss or about school or family, you don't pass along that anger or bitterness or meanness to others. If you have a lousy boss, does that mean that you should be mean to your family? If you have a difficult family situation, does that mean that you should be angry with your coworkers?

Your cross is your cross. It shouldn't become someone else's. In other words, where is the new life that God is holding out for you? And how will it come? Is it in forgiving someone in your family? Moving away from an unhealthy work environment? Letting go of something that prevented you from being more loving? Trusting in yourself a little more?

God's gift of resurrection is usually a complete surprise, just like it was for the Apostles. And just as the Apostles discovered on Easter Sunday, the resurrection doesn't come when you expect it. It sometimes takes a while to come at all.

And when it does come, it's often not what you would expect it to look like. Most of all, it's often hard to describe, because it's personal – it's your resurrection.

When I was a Jesuit novice, I worked in a hospital for seriously ill people, and every Friday we had a little discussion group. One young woman who had been in a wheelchair for many years told me something that completely surprised me. She said that she used to think of her chair as a cross — which would have been my reaction — but lately, she said, she thought of it as her resurrection.

She said, "My wheelchair helps me get around. Without it, I wouldn't be able to do anything. It brings me life."

Despite our crosses, or because of them, these resurrections in our lives do come. You have Jesus' word on that.

and Science and Research Update

9-11:30 a.m.

Have you ever wondered if there was more you could do to advance the cause of research and treatment of Alzheimer's and Dementia? Even if you are no longer an active caregiver, this issue needs you. With the influx of baby boomers and the coming health care strains, it's important that we prepare as a nation. Funding for research, for the care of a growing 65-and-over population, and laws that will govern it, are more important than ever.

In this session, learn about how you can make your voice heard. Also learn where science and research are heading and what makes us hopeful for the future. The sooner we understand the causes of dementia, the sooner we can establish treatment and even find a cure.

Speaker: Lindsay Brieschke, Alzheimer's Assoc. Dir. of Public Policy. For details, call Judy Petterle, Hope Dementia Ministry, at 734-446-6584.

YOUNG BREAD MAKERS

Monday night's second grade, with the third grade class, baked bread to help prepare them for First Communion on April 30. Religious Education Catechists Catherine Hyde and Sherry Pauli oversaw the adventure in St. Timothy's big kitchen, with help from fourth-grader Zach Pauli and eighth-grader Dominic Petrlich.

TIPS ABOUT PRAYER

It's hard to pray when you are sick or in crisis. You'd think these would be the easiest times to pray. But it is a common experience that even though these are times when we most want to pray, it's usually most difficult. Don't let it worry you. Go to the basics. For example, simply pray the Our Father slowly over and over. And offer your suffering as a prayer to God.

Don't let prayers get between you and God. The object of praying is not saying prayers; it is being with God. Different forms of prayer are meant to open us up to God's presence. Too often we confuse "praying" with "saying prayers."

The more we pray, the more we want to pray. Prayer is not like food which we can tire of. Repeated prayer whets our appetite. With prayer, absence does not make the heart grow fonder, it makes the heart grow inattentive.
